- Dr. Pabon, you are the General Editor for the Fisher of Men Bible. Can share with our audience the words of Jesus that inspired the name, Fisher of Men? Do you believe Jesus' words apply to Christians today?
- Evangelism and discipleship are hallmarks of your ministry in the U.S. and around the world. Tell us how the Fisher of Men Bible is an extension of those two priorities.
- A Thematic Index provides a starting point for “chains of verses” related to practical topics. Can you describe how a chain would help a reader who needs biblical perspective on a topic such as Evangelism?
- Is this Bible designed for pastors or for Christians in their daily walk? How are the tools and helps useful for those who evangelize or counsel others?
- The Fisher of Men Bible has already been published in Spanish and Portuguese, and now it is available in English for the first time. Why do you believe the CSB (Christian Standard Bible) translation is the right fit for the English translation?
- The editorial committee for The Fisher of Men Bible is comprised of Latino men and women. How did their unique contribution shape the tools and helps related to evangelism and discipleship?
- Do you see evangelism and revival in Latin countries more than in the United States? Do you see Latino communities in the U.S. taking the lead in evangelistic efforts in our country?
- As the Hispanic population grows in North America, demographics are shifting quickly toward people of color as the new majority. How can Evangelical churches (English-speaking and Spanish-speaking) prepare for this population shift?
